

CV Prof De Bruyn

Hugo De Bruyn is Chair of the dental school at Radboud University Medical Center in Nijmegen, The Netherlands and professor at the department of periodontology & oral implantology at the University of Ghent Belgium responsible for undergraduate and postgraduate specialist education. Course director of the international postgraduate oral implantology program and postgraduate specialist program periodontology. Clinical research of his group focuses on factors related to implant success, effect of smoking, immediate implant loading. He has given more than 500 national-international lectures/courses in the field of implantology/periodontology and published in international peer reviewed journals. Currently also visiting Professor at the Department Prosthodontics of Malmo University Sweden.

E-mail address hugo.debruyn@radboudumc.nl